[NAME OF CHILDCARE]

Parent Handbook

Adopted by BOD: XXX, 2017

Amended by BOD: XXX, 2017

Mission

[NAME OF CHILDCARE] is a non-profit, employer-assisted parent cooperative. The mission of [NAME OF CHILDCARE] is to provide high quality, developmentally appropriate child care in a nurturing, safe, and supportive environment.

Program Goals

- [NAME OF CHILDCARE] is committed to offering full time child care and scheduling options that meet the needs of employees and community members
- [NAME OF CHILDCARE] is committed to providing high quality, developmentally appropriate child care and enrichment programs for children with consistent, quality caregivers
- [NAME OF CHILDCARE] is committed to weaving parent involvement into the program in a way that offers parenting education, respects parents, and ultimately provides added benefits for children and their families

Mission Approach

The mission of [NAME OF CHILDCARE] is based on the recognition that Social Competence is the key to all learning. Children's early interpersonal relationships determine their understanding of the world. The development of positive relationships based on respect for the individual is the foundation of the program. All children should have the opportunity to learn the skills necessary to participate in satisfying relationships and activities with their peers, teachers, parents and other significant adults.

Specific components of the program include:

1. Weaving parent involvement into the program in a way that offers parenting education, respects parents, and ultimately provides added benefits for children.
2. Integrating a preschool curriculum that is designed to meet the cognitive, social, emotional, physical, and creative needs of the children at their various developmental levels.
3. Offering play-based high-scope curriculum that provides choices for children and meets them at their interest level.

Parenting education is most effective when it involves hands on application of knowledge. This includes implementing curriculum, interacting with children, learning appropriate teaching and caregiving practices learned in part by observing children and teachers.

Rest Periods

It is important for a young, growing child to have time to rest or enjoy quiet activities during the day. A rest period is part of the daily schedule for each age group. The child is encouraged, but not forced, to sleep during this time. After lying on their cot for 30 minutes, children are given books, puzzles, or other quiet activities to play while the other children sleep. A cot is provided for each child. Children may bring a small pillow and blanket from home to remain on the cot for the week. Bedding is sent home weekly to be washed. Cribs for infants are provided, we supply sheets.

Guidance and Discipline

The staff at [NAME OF CHILDCARE] strives to create an atmosphere of acceptance to enhance the self-esteem of each child. When discipline is needed, we never use any type of physical punishment. Discipline will use positive guidance, redirection and limit setting. We will prohibit the use of humiliating and frightening punishment. We will also prohibit peers from administering discipline. We believe that:

- * All children need limits which are consistently enforced.
- * Children need opportunities to accept responsibility for the consequences of the actions.
- * Positive behavior should be reinforced to redirect inappropriate behavior.
- * Punishment is not to be used in connection with rest, food, or toilet training.

When a specific behavioral problem has been identified at [NAME OF CHILDCARE], it will be brought to the attention of the child's parent/guardian. [NAME OF CHILDCARE] has developed written procedures for dealing with persistent unacceptable behavior that requires an increased amount of staff guidance and time.

- Staff will observe and record the child's unacceptable behavior and how staff respond to the behavior.

FOR EXAMPLE USE ONLY – PLEASE CONSULT AN ATTORNEY ON THIS WORK

- Develop a plan to address the behavior documented (above) in consultation with the child’s parents and with other staff members and professionals, when appropriate.

Behavior Guidance Policies

Behavior management requires a positive approach, supervision and patience. [NAME OF CHILDCARE]’s goal is to inspire staff to be diligent in the application of these principles in the classroom. Successful classroom management will allow staff to focus on acceptable behaviors.

Each classroom will be tailored to the development of the children in that program. A variety of methods may be used including redirection, giving choices, counting, removal from the situation and talking to the child about the situation.

Time outs may be used if other methods of discipline have been tried first. Time outs will be no longer than one minute per year of child’s age. Caregivers will communicate with the child before and after the time out about what was not appropriate about the action (separating the behavior/action from the child) and what behavior is expected of him or her.

5. The use of physical restraint other than to physically hold a child where containment is necessary to protect a child or others from harm.
6. The use of mechanical restraints, such as tying.

Biting Policy

Biting is a normal, but unacceptable behavior in young children. It is one of the most difficult issues as it provokes a strong emotional response in the biter, victim, parents and caregivers. For many children, biting is a brief and passing problem. For other children, biting may be a more persistent problem. They may bite for a variety of reasons: teething, frustration, inadequate language skills, stress or change in the environment, feeling threatened or to feel a sense of power. Bites, which break the skin, can cause permanent scars and have potential for spreading disease. When biting occurs, the following steps will be taken:

1. All biting incidents should be recorded on an Incident Report. Parents of all children involved must be notified.
2. When a child receives a bite that breaks the skin, the both child's parents should be notified as soon as possible so that they can seek medical attention if they so choose. The US Public Health Service recommends that parents of both children contact their physician about health risks and possible evaluation for blood exposure.
3. If persistent biting occurs, classroom staff and the director will meet to discuss the situation, room arrangement, and what else could be done to circumvent the biting. Occurrences will be tracked to document location, time, participants, staff present and circumstances to find any patterns to be avoided or changed.
4. If after steps have been taken to remedy the biting, and no improvement is seen, [NAME OF CHILDCARE] will ask parents to find alternative care for the child.

Aquatic Activities Policy

As per licensing requirements, written parental permission and a written description of a child's swimming ability is required before children participate in any aquatic activity.
